How to White List any Domain Name

Follow these instructions to "white list" ezvoteonline.com, lcvillage.org or any other domain name to help keep messages from them from being tagged as spam.  Adding the specific email address such as support@ezvoteonline.com as a contact in your "contact list" will also help.

Yahoo Mail

1. In the top-right corner click on the "gear" icon ( ⚙ ) next to Settings
2. Go to More Settings – Filters
3. Click on +Add new filters to create a filter
4. Under Filter Name give the filter a name such as "ezvote" or "LCVHOA"
5. Under Set Rules, under From, click on Select a filter criterion and choose "contains"
6. Where it says Type a filter value enter the domain name "ezvoteonline.com"
7. Leave the other entries blank and click Save to apply the changes. Your filter will show in the list under Your Filters.  Repeat for the domain name "lcvillage.org."

Gmail

1. Open your inbox, click on the gear icon ( ⚙ ) close to your Google account icon and select Settings then See All Settings
2. Select Filters and Blocked Addresses from the menu across the top and click on Create a new filter which is just below the list of any existing filters
3. In the From box write the domain name "ezvoteonline.com"
4. Click on Create filter in the bottom-right corner.
5. Tick the option Never send it to Spam.
6. Press Create Filter, in the bottom-left corner and you're done.  Messages from ezvote should now go to your inbox.  Repeat for the domain name "lcvillage.org."

Outlook

1. Under Settings, click on View all Outlook Settings
2. Select Junk Email and under Safe Senders and domains click on Add
3. Enter "ezvoteonline.com"
4. Press Save and you're done.  Repeat for the domain name "lcvillage.org."

AOL Mail

1. Log into you AOL webmail account
2. Go to the Contacts section, located on the left side and add a New Contact
   3. In the Email1 box type support@ezvoteonline.com
3. Click Add Contact and you're done! Repeat for communications@lcvillage.org and propertymanager@lcvillage.org.
